Chips

We came, we looked, we stared—we almost started away, but Dick Rollo has never been fooled yet, not by a layer of white paint and a few blades of grass anyway, and we finally decided that maybe it wasn't one of those country clubs where they stick you for membership and greens fees, and look down their noses at Fords like ours with little bits of wisdom beautifully engraved on them.

Those greens back there in the Garden of Eden wouldn't be half bad, though, if it weren't for all the red and yellow flowers that get in the way. If the putt happened to drift over into the rose bushes the thorns might not feel so good. Well, we can't be too particular.

Now, if they would just tear down the gym and set up a miniature golf course, we might really get some school spirit around the old Alma Mater, and incidentally make enough money to build a new gym. Economics.

The Prexy seems to like it if no one else does. He entertains all his day-time callers by showing them around and he's even been seen daintily stepping over the fences and gazing at the roses by the light of the moon. It saves wear and tear on his reception room, and gives him a good subject for conversation.

Quigley's stays in the swim by putting a few dashes of blue paint here and there on the wall, and shoving back the cases to make more room for the thousands of new students who are sure to be attracted to "this city university with a campus as spacious and attractive as any country college in the land."

Football is coming into its own. What with an enlarged coaching staff, a training camp, all of last year's team back, a schedule with colleges fished that someone has heard of, and games to be played at night, it looks as though we'll be able to brag about our team with the best of them.

Wonder what the co-eds will do when we play Navy? Heart or home?

This idea of putting little Freshies and Sophomores in their place by instituting a kindergarten for them isn't such a bad one. Now they'll have plenty of nice sympathetic advisors to tell their troubles to and to "sic" on those nasty old professors who don't seem to realize that when a co-ed has been out all night she can't be expected to be brilliant in class.

When we were out in Podunk this summer we started to read an article about the medieval guild system—just out of cultural curiosity, you understand, and all of a sudden three mystic letters caught our eye. They were G. W. U. Swelling with forgotten pride we went on to read about something called the Independent Study Plan. Of course none of the students are supposed to do anything so rash as actually to try it. That would be too big a strain on the professors. But if you're bright and ambitious you might look into it instead of saving up your cash to go to Oxford.

We hear that Midge has decided to let some other girl get the thrill of being the hit of Troubadours. That's the kind of a self-sacrificing girl we've been waiting all these years to marry.

Dr. West and H. L. Mencken were married during the summer months.

A big man from the South (Georgia) came to G. W. just because he had read the Hatchet. Maybe the supply of cigars down there ran out.

Three fraternities had averages above the general student index. Eleven sororities were above this 1.3 general average. No comment required.

Elmer Louis Kayser is director of the new Extension Division. Now you can go to Florida and lie in the sun while you laugh at his famous jokes and get just as much credit as though you were sitting in a hard chair in a classroom. And you can skip the dull parts in between, instead of snoozing and wondering if you are going to wake up in time for the next joke.

Seems like old times to be having a cartoon by Roland Lyon. Why, when he and I were Freshmen, G. W. didn't even have any buildings to paint white. DICK ROLLO.

Campus Carnival Will Be Given By Student Council

The Student Council will give a Campus Carnival for all students of the University on Friday, September 26, from 9 to 1. The entire first floor of Corcoran Hall will be thrown open for dancing, and the campus will be strung with brightly colored lanterns. Entertainment will be presented by the Troubadours and Les Jongleurs, and refreshments will be served. All students in the University are cordially invited to attend.

High School Grads Win Four-Year Scholarships

Include Fannie Brill, Helen Arons, D. Hill, R. Rose, Clara Critchfield, and Dorothy Smith

Each year a scholarship is awarded to one member of the graduating class of each Washington High School, upon recommendation by the faculty.

This year the awards were as follows:

Business—Fannie Brill, 35 N Street N. W., secretary of the Girls Auxiliary, special writer on the Balance Sheet, and head bookkeeper in Business High Rank. Western—Helen Arons, 2121 New York Avenue, who stood second in her class. McKinley—David Hill, 26 S Street, who was one of fourteen honor students, president of the Dramatic Club, and alternate in the National Oratorical Contest.

Central—Ralph H. Rose, 4318 15th Street, who was a member of the National Honor Society, a letter man in football, and a member of the track team. Eastern—Clara E. Critchfield, 1606 A Street N. E., who was a member of the Glee Club and staff of the Easterner, secretary of the Science Club, member of Phi Epsilon Pi, and who had practically perfect scholarship throughout her four years. Alexandria High School—Dorothy M. Smith, who ranked fourth in her class.

Dollar Dance

The Colonial Club announces its opening dance Tuesday evening, September 30, from 10, until one. McWilliams' music.

Registration Opens Today For George Washington's 110th Year

Students Entering From High School or Transferring Urged to Present Credentials Immediately; Procedure For Registration is Outlined

Registration for the 110th academic year of The George Washington University, in all schools and divisions except the Law School and the School of Medicine, will open today, September 20, and continue through Tuesday, September 23. All classes will resume the following day, Wednesday, September 24.

In the Law School registration will open one day earlier, September 19, taking place in Stockton Hall, the Law School Building, from 9 until 12 and from 2 until 6.

Registration for the freshman class of the School of Medicine was closed some time ago, 90 of the 250 qualified candidates being selected for entrance. Registration for the advanced courses in the School of Medicine will be held the opening day of school.

Students entering the University from high school, or transferring from another university, should present their credentials to the Admissions office at the earliest possible date in order that the records may be evaluated in time to complete registration before the close of the period.

Debaters Open Season In Contest With Scotch Team On November 13

The debate season of George Washington University opens on Thursday, November 13, when the University will entertain a foreign team from two Universities of Scotland. The Scottish team will be composed of Mr. John M. MacCormick, of Glasgow University, and Mr. Norman A. B. Wilson, of St. Andrews University.

The question of the debate is, Resolved, That the Primary function of a University is to advance the general knowledge of mankind rather than supply cultural or vocational training. The Scottish University team will support the affirmative and the George Washington team, the negative.

The tryout to select the two men who will represent George Washington in this debate will be held on Friday, September 26, in room 29 of Corcoran Hall at 7:30 p. m.

The tryouts for all other men's and women's debate teams will be announced in the next issue of the Hatchet.

Students other than those in Law or Medicine will register in Corcoran Hall, 21st Street between G and H Streets N. W. Registration hours will be from 9 to 12 and from 2 to 6. To receive any credit for a course enrollment must be made before October 8 of the first semester. A late registration fee of $5.00 will be charged any person enrolling after September 23.

Registrants will enter the main door of Corcoran Hall, procuring registration forms at the door. These will be filled out in the Assembly Room. The student will then consult an adviser who will assist him in preparing his schedule. He must then secure from the dean of the school in which he is registering approval of his course of study. He will then proceed to Room 17, where courses will be checked, fees paid and class cards secured.

Foreign students will consult with Professor Robert Whitney Bolwell, Adviser to Students from Foreign Countries, whose office during the registration period will be located in the Council Room in Corcoran Hall.

Handbook Appears On Campus

The Handbook for 1930-31 is ready for distribution to students during registration. Copies may also be obtained at the Hatchet office.

Fletcher Henderson is editor of the Handbook, Cecile Harrington and Harriet Rissler, editorial assistants; Richard Castell, advertising manager; Reese Sewell, graduate manager, and Henry Amos and Thomas Mitchell, advertising assistants.

Approval Of Women's Rooms

The registration of freshmen women under 23 years of age may not be completed until their rooms are approved by Mrs. Barrows.

G. W. Baptist Club Progresses

The summer months saw a continued interest among students in the George Washington University Baptist Student Union with a dozen representatives going to the South-wide Retreat, and a number attending the regular summer school watermelon feast.

EDUCATIONAL REORGANIZATION OF UNIVERSITY GOES INTO EFFECT WITH BEGINNING OF 110TH YEAR

MARVIN'S SEASON IN EUROPE PROVES VERY SUCCESSFUL

Renews Friendship With MacDonald In England; Lectures On "American Relations"

President Marvin had many and varied experiences during his sojourn in Europe this summer, among them being the renewal of his acquaintance with Premier Ramsay MacDonald. Although President Marvin prepared most of the lectures to be given at Geneva on his way across the ocean there was much research work to be done in London. Premier MacDonald extended every courtesy to President Marvin in giving him access to the governmental archives and every possible aid in his research work. He also gave him the privilege of attending Parliament while in session. Before leaving London the Premier presented Mr. Marvin with an autographed copy of the book, "American Speeches," by Ramsay MacDonald. This book contained the speech which Mr. MacDonald delivered at the George Washington convocation last year.

Studies in London and Paris While in London President Marvin met Sir Frank Heath, the head of the British University Union, who invited him to attend the Conference of Imperial Universities next summer in Edinburgh.

After ten days of hard work in London, President Marvin crossed over to Paris, where he again turned into archives and various historical documents through the courtesy of governmental officials and professors from the Sorbonne. He has been asked to lecture at the Sorbonne next summer on "The Development of Democratic Institutions in America." It is hoped that this may clear up some of the feeling of fear and almost hatred of America as a powerful nation on the part of many Frenchmen.

Lectures At Geneva At Geneva he lectured on "American Relations," especially the Monroe Doctrine and our Caribbean Policy, and summing up with a glimpse of the future. The lectures were delivered in English to about 300 students, mostly lawyers and professors of international fame, who were preparing for the League of Nations. His seminar course was expected to draw about 15 students instead of the 47 who represented 29 nations. These discussions were conducted in French and English, and the students were very frank in stating their feelings and beliefs.

President Marvin is expected to accept the invitation to return to Geneva in 1931 to deliver another series of lectures.

Bolwell Appointed As Foreign Student Advisor

Dr. Robert Whitney Bolwell was appointed Advisor to Foreign Students during the Summer Session to replace Dr. William Stull Holt, who has now left the University.

One of the first steps Dr. Bolwell took after his appointment was to send letters explaining the services of his department, which has only been in existence a year, to all of the Embassies and Legations in Washington. Much interest in his work was expressed and his letters have been forwarded to the offices of education in the various countries. The position of Advisor to Foreign Students was created to help students from foreign countries to become adjusted to American university life. The greatest problem facing foreign students is the difficulty they have with our language. To help in solving this problem a course in English for foreign students was given during 1929-30 at the suggestion of the Advisor to Foreign Students.

The Advisor also confers with the individual students about their courses and about the personal problems which arise.

Freshman Meeting

All freshmen are expected to attend the Freshman Meeting to be held in Corcoran Hall on Saturday, September 27. One meeting will be held at 12 o'clock and the other at 5 o'clock so that all students may attend one or the other.

Five Specific Measures Adopted By Faculty In Carrying Out Program

With the opening of its 110th academic year, George Washington University is inaugurating a complete educational reorganization.

While not entirely new in its individual principles, The George Washington University Plan is a distinct educational advance in the association of these principles in a comprehensive scheme. It restores the community spirit of earlier faculties which has been largely destroyed in American institutions of higher learning through the interposition of elaborate administrative machinery. By divorcing the educational from the administrative functions of the University and placing the control of courses of study in the hands of the faculty, it reestablishes educational democracy. The plan further accomplishes a return to the "master-fellow" relationship between teacher and student which vitalizes teaching and which, with the advent of mass education, has been largely lost sight of. It provides for the discovery and development of creative ability in the individual student.

Five New Measures

Five measures have been adopted by the faculties of the University in effecting the program:

1. The establishment of a Junior College to care for the first two college years, underlying the senior college and all of the professional schools.

2. The reorganization of Columbian College, the college of letters and sciences of The George Washington University, as a senior college, embracing the junior year, the senior year and one year of graduate study, leading to the baccalaureate and the master's degree.

3. The creation within the senior college of Divisions of Study under which the curriculum departments are grouped in accordance with their content affinity, thus establishing the cooperation of faculty members in related studies, placing educational control in the hands of the faculty, and bringing the student in contact with fields of learning rather than with isolated courses.

4. Adoption of an Individual Study Plan which permits a closer and more personal relationship between instructors and students who are qualified to profit by exemption from formal class requirements.

5. Organization of a Council for Graduate Study based entirely upon the "master-fellow" relationship between professor and student, which conceives the work for the Ph. D. purely as professional research training, separate and distinct from that for the Master's degree. The Master's degree is transferred to the senior college.

Perhaps the most significant and far-reaching single measure adopted is the Divisional Organization which places the faculty in control of instruction and interprets the office of Dean as that of a student personnel officer. Freed from administrative strictures and placed in sympathetic relationship to colleagues in related fields, the faculty member is encouraged to do stronger and more creative work. The student profits by being brought into contact with related fields of knowledge rather than with isolated courses.

Divisions of Study

Four Divisions of Study have been created—Languages and Literatures, Mathematics and the Physical Sciences, the Natural Sciences, and the Social Sciences. The grouping of curriculum departments under these divisions is based upon such factors as the relationship of content, the interrelation of methods and of prerequisites, and similarity of background and viewpoint. Under this organization groups of scholars whose primary interests formerly were developed in remotely related fields are brought together for work on common problems. Fields of knowledge are substitutes for highly specialized branches and there are reestablished the old intellectual and functional contacts that gave the small college educational advantages which are lost to the large institution. The working out of this principle already is seen at The George Washington University in courses given jointly by the Departments of Public Speaking and of Sociology in the Division of the Social Sciences, and in the study of linguistics undertaken in the Division of Languages and Literatures.

The Divisional Organization, in general.

WASHINGTON, D. C., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1930

TO THE FRESHMEN

For you who are entering G. W. for the first time, we wish to summarize the factors which make this University unique and outstanding among the colleges of the country. For many years it has been the custom for our students to speak slightly and apologetically of their school. There is no basis for such an inferior feeling. It is a bad habit which must be broken.

George Washington is an urban University, and as such should not be held up in comparison with universities of another type. It has distinct advantages over them, just as it has distinct disadvantages. In our case one of the greatest of these advantages is our location in the capital of the Nation, where there is every resource for research and study. Professors of marked ability are attracted by this factor. For the student who is interested in music and art Washington offers unlimited opportunities.

Aside from these advantages which are purely supplementary, the University is within itself a most progressive body. Its educational organization is one of the most advanced in the country. The Junior College with a special certificate for the first two years, the inclusion of the master's degree within Columbian College, the quality point system, the independent study plan, are all innovations which are intended to aid the student in procuring a less stereotyped education.

In intercollegiate contests George Washington holds its own with the best of schools. The men's and women's rifle teams carry off national championships year after year, the debaters meet teams from foreign countries and from the largest schools of the East, the Troubadours staged a musical production of almost professional quality, and last, but very far from least, our football team this year is one of which everyone can boast.

INDEPENDENT STUDY PLAN

The independent study plan which is being inaugurated at George Washington this year is one of the most recent innovations in education in American colleges. It is devised for the student whose ability has been tested in regular courses, and who desires to study intensively some particular phase of a course.

The method by which the plan will be carried out is left to the discretion of the individual professors. It will probably consist of research work with conferences with the instructor every few weeks.

The student who takes courses under this plan must have the initiative to work without constant supervision and nagging. He must have the imagination to do original work. He must have a background which will enable him to proceed intelligently, and discover his own facts instead of having them poured down his throat in lectures.

For the student who has these qualities, the plan offers an opportunity for relief from the hum-drum monotony of class-work, and for specialized study along lines which most interest him. The student must indicate at the beginning of the semester whether he wishes to undertake this plan, and must gain the consent of the instructor during registration or the first few days of school.

Women's Scholarship Body Will Give Tea October 1

Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary scholarship fraternity for freshmen women, will give a tea on October 1 in honor of the Freshmen.

This fraternity was installed at G. W. in April, 1930, when Miss Marie Leonard, dean of women at the University of Illinois and founder of the fraternity, came here for the initiation and installation ceremonies and banquet at the Willard Hotel. Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary scholarship fraternity for freshmen men, is the brother fraternity of Alpha Lambda Delta and has a chapter on the G. W. campus.

Alpha Lambda Delta was founded to promote higher standards of learning and to encourage high scholastic attainment among freshmen women in our colleges and universities. Any freshman is eligible to membership provided she makes grades equivalent to the average between the two highest grades (in case of G. W. between A and B) during the first year of her registration at the university. Day students must carry the normal schedule of 15 hours required by the university. For employed students working more than twenty-four hours per week nine units is considered normal work and membership is given on this basis. This provision for the employed students is a special dispensation for George Washington University, exclusively, in recognition of its unique function of contributing to government employees.

Mrs. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance, is an honorary member of Alpha Lambda Delta. Eleanor Kise, a junior in the university, will become the second honorary member of the G. W. chapter upon her initiation into the fraternity in October. Officers of Alpha Lambda Delta are: Mildred Burnham, president; Margaret Payne, vice-president; Mary Maculla, secretary; Jeanette Bernstein, treasurer. The new president, Jane Menefee, and the new secretaries, Virginia Gummel and Rae Miller, will assume office late in October. Active members are: Carolyn Brooks, Nanette Dembitz, Elizabeth Churchill, Elizabeth Farrell, and Marion Fick.

Lorene Nelson entertained at luncheon at Beaver Dam, on August 28, for Scotty Hillman, a Pi Phi from North Dakota.

Kappa Kappa Gamma gave a farewell party for Mary Fitzgerald, who is leaving for Syracuse University.

Trimble Sawtelle gave a dance at his home September 6.

Paul Gardner is attending Harvard this year to work for a Ph.D.

Rosalie Reed has left G. W. to attend Smith College this year.

Asa Smith, S. A. E., has returned to Washington after a year's absence in South America, Hawaii, and Australia.

Jean Kirkwood spent the summer at Eaglesmere, the North Shore and West Point.

Edith Brookhart has returned from traveling in the Middle West with her father.

Bob Linkey and Dick Melanphey toured Canada this summer.

Bill Dismer and Mr. Alan Delbert spent several weeks in the Catskills this summer.

Fletcher Henderson attended the races at Saratoga in August.

Jean and Frank Westbrook went to Pamlico Beach, N. C.

Margaret Monk entertained at a bridge shower for Evelyn Esch.

Eugene Le Merle spent the summer visiting friends in Canada.

Barbara Miller was the guest of Helen Kerr at Fortress Monroe, during the early part of the summer.

Ruth Griggs will be back at George Washington after a year at the University of Wisconsin.

Billie and Bertie Wright spent the summer touring about Europe.

Louise Bruce has just returned from a two week's stay in Newport.

Mary Harriman will attend the University of Michigan this winter.

Jane and Helen Henderson attended the Sigma Kappa Convention this summer in Seattle.

Helene Kreutzer spent the summer in Germany.

Cloude Sentierre spent the summer at Lake Louise.

Edith McCoy has just returned from a month's stay in Florida.

Alethea Lawton has been taking summer courses at the University of Michigan.

Phi Sigma Kappa entertained every other Wednesday night during the summer months with radio-bridge parties.

Barney Conger spent his vacation in Atlantic City.

Sigma Kappa announces the pledging of Marjory Burton and Marion Fowler; July 22.

The biennial convention of Phi Sigma Kappa was held at Massachusetts Agricultural College in Amherst, and at Boston, from August 19 to August 23. John Thacker was the official delegate from the George Washington Lambda Chapter.

Maude Hudson spent her vacation in New York.

Dorothy Albert attended the summer school of the University of Wisconsin.

Winnie Beall and Winnie Faunce represented Gamma Chi Chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma at the national convention held at Mackinac Island, Mich.

Mrs. Carroll Detained

Mrs. Carroll, lecturer in archaeology, has been unavoidably detained in Europe, and her classes therefore will begin about a week after the opening of school. For further information, students may consult Professor Truman Michelson, executive officer of the department.

Women's Rush Rules

Rushing for women's fraternities begins November 2. Antedating this is a pre-rushing period in which there will be free association among fraternity women and freshmen. During this period no sorority will be allowed to spend money on freshmen, nor will the freshmen be allowed to visit the rooms of the homes of fraternity women.

After the opening of this rushing season, there will be a fixed schedule of days for issuing invitations, followed by a ten-day rush period, during which each sorority will have a closed date. After these dates are fixed no other sorority will be allowed to invite freshmen for the same day until the morning of that day.

A financial limit for rushing is placed on all women's fraternities. No fraternity shall be allowed to spend more than $150 for rushing.

After the ten-day rushing period freshmen will be pledged by the various sororities. This day falls on November 17.

Weddings And Engagements Of the Summer Season

Pi Beta Phi announces the wedding of Ruth Foster to John Littlepage in August.

Frank Brumbaugh, a member of Acacia Fraternity, was married to Margaret McKeever on June 21, 1930.

Kappa Kappa Gamma announces the marriage of Catherine Ruth to Campbell Starr, former George Washington student, on June 26, 1930.

Hilda Wrenn, a member of Chi Omega, was married to Irving Russell, a Kappa Alpha from Maryland University, on June 11, 1930.

William J. Galt, former George Washington student and member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, married Elizabeth Mahaffey, June 12, in Arkansas.

Dr. Warren Reed West, of the George Washington faculty, was married to Gladys Ann Bush, a student at George Washington.

Kappa Delta announces the marriage of Margaret Harriman to Ensign Warner Edsell.

Helen E. Gregg, a member of Pi Beta Phi, married Harvey S. Gerry this summer.

Hazel Thompson and Sam Craig, both former George Washington students, were married June 12.

Chi Omega announces the wedding of Elsie Talbert to Charles L. Shelton.

Sigma Chi Fraternity announces the marriage of Smith Brookhart to Elizabeth Waller, a Pi Beta Phi.

Howard Dewhirst, former G. W. student, is engaged to Edith R. Ward.

The wedding of George Parsons, Jr., of G. W. U., to Gladys Sanderson, took place on June 17.

Judge and Mrs. Thomas S. Williams announce the wedding of their daughter, Alice, to Midshipman Oscar Browne, and their daughter Ruth to Paul Hansen.

Evelyn Esch and Frank Barley were united in marriage, September 4, 1930. The bride is a former G. W. Student and a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Pi Phi announces the engagement of Lois Thompson to Jack B. Thompson.

Alpha Delta Pi announces the engagement of Marian Kreutzer to Stuart Armstrong.

Naomi Newton, a member of Alpha Delta Pi, was married to Ted Hull, Theta Delta Chi, the last of June.

Men's Rush Rules

1. No man shall be pledged by any fraternity who is not a student at George Washington University.

2. No man shall be pledged by any fraternity during any period that the George Washington University is not in session.

3. No man shall be rushed or pledged during the period of registration prior to the opening of school, or for seven days after the opening of school.

4. After a man has been pledged, and his pledge is broken or rescinded, he may not accept another pledge for a period of one semester or four months.

5. The enforcement of the rushing rules adopted by the Council shall be in the hands of the Council. No fraternity shall be convicted for violation of the rules, except by a two-thirds vote of the fraternities who are members of the Council.

Curriculum of School of Gov't Enlarged to Include Six Groups

New Curriculum Designed To Prepare Students For Public Service; Many George Washington Graduates Now Represent U. S. Abroad

The School of Government of George Washington University enters upon its third year with its opening on September 24.

Established in 1928, the School had registered last year students from 22 states, the District of Columbia and four foreign countries. The curriculum of the School has been enlarged to include six curriculum groups, each leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, with a designation of the major field of study. Four of these curriculum groups, Government, Domestic Commerce, Foreign Service and Foreign Commerce, are intended primarily for the student who looks forward to public service, either with Federal, state or municipal government at home, or with the Department of State or the Department of Commerce abroad. The other curriculum groups, Business Administration and Finance, are designed for the student who intends to enter the field of private business.

Graduates Important

The George Washington University since 1898 has had an important part in training the men who represent our government abroad. For many years numbers of George Washington men have held high posts in the diplomatic and consular service of the Department of State, and in the foreign service of the Department of Commerce. Many of these foreign service officers are graduates of The George Washington University School of Jurisprudence and Diplomacy, which existed between the years of 1898 and 1910. From 1910 until 1928, training for Foreign Service was offered at George Washington under the departments of instruction of the arts college. In September, 1928, Foreign Service training was re-established as a separate branch.

The Register of the Department of State includes the names of 50 George Washington men among the Diplomatic and Consular officers of the United States. Among these are Wilbur J. Carr, formerly Director of the Consular Service and now Assistant Secretary of State; Fred Morris Dearing, Ambassador to Peru; Nelson T. Johnson, Minister to China; Hoffman Philip, Minister to Norway; Arthur H. Geisler, Minister to Guatemala; Reed Paige Clark, Consul, Santo Domingo; Felix Cole, Consul General, Warsaw, Poland; Leslie A. Davis, Consul, Patras, Greece; James Orr Danby, Second Secretary, American Legation, Peking, China; Samuel G. Ebling, Vice Consul, Penang, Straits Settlements; Wesley Frost, Consul General, Montreal, Canada; Louis H. Gouley, Consul, Sao Paulo, Brazil; Julius C. Jensen, Vice Consul, Oslo, Norway.

Others are Wilbur Koblinger, Consul, Bombay, India; Herve L'Heureux, Vice Consul, Windsor, Canada; John H. Madonne, Vice Consul, Department of State; John J. Muccio, Consul, Hong Kong, China; Robert D. Murphy, Consul, Department of State; Ely Elliot Palmer, Consul General in Charge, Bucharest, Rumania; George C. Peck, Commercial Attache, San Jose, Costa Rica; Harold B. Quorton, Consul, Habana, Cuba; Samuel C. Reat, Consul, Calgary, Canada; Lester L. Schnare, Consul, Breslau, Germany; Rudolf E. Schoenfeld, Second Secretary, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Carl O. Spamer, Consul, Amoy, China; G. Russell Taggart, Consul, Belize, British Honduras; and Charles D. Westcott, Consul, Department of State. There are many George Washington graduates among the foreign service officers of the Department of Commerce.

Faculty Expanded

Among the 15 appointments which have been made this year to the Faculty of the University, three represent additions to the faculty of the School of Government, with resultant expansion of its courses.

Alva Curtis Wilgus, Ph. D., formerly of the University of South Carolina, has been appointed Associate Professor of Hispanic-American History. An authority on Central and South America, Dr. Wilgus will give courses on the history and political institutions of Hispanic-America. Dr. Wilgus has contributed more than 30 articles and monographs on Hispanic-American history during the past eight years, and has published, within the last three years, more than 60 book reviews in the field of Hispanic-American history and Hispanic-American relations in the United States. He is managing editor of the Critical Bibliography of All Work in All Languages Dealing with Hispanic-America, a co-operative work among scholars.

Edgar A. J. Johnson, Ph. D., who has been added to the staff of the Department of Economics as Associate Professor of Economics, is a specialist in the History of Economic Thought and will offer a seminar in this subject which will be of particular interest to students of government. Dr. Johnson holds the degree of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard University. He has taught at the University of Oklahoma and at Harvard University, and during the past year has been in England engaged in research. In the Department of Political Science, William C. Johnstone, Ph. D., formerly of Stanford University, will teach the courses in International Relations and International Law. This department has added a new course on the Political Institutions of Hispanic-America, to be given by Professor Wilgus.

WHANG!

A fraternity had sent its curtains to be laundered. It was the second day that the house had stood unveiled. One morning the following note arrived from a sorority across the street:

"Dear Sirs: May we suggest that you produce curtains for windows? We do not care for a course in anatomy."

"The chap who left his shaving to read the note answered:

"Dear Girls: The course is optional."

THE WRONG PARTY

The doctor rushed out of his study in a state of great excitement. "Get my bag at once," he gasped as he reached for his hat. "Some man has just telephoned that he can't live without me."

His wife gave a sigh of relief. "Just a minute," she said gently. "I think that call was for daughter, dear."

Page Gene Sexton. "Big Jim" Pixie wants to know what became of the bedding over at "Utopia" the other night. It all came about when the Athletic Director came up on the cold-est night of the year and slept at the vacant squad quarters. He arose in the morning rubbing his back and shoulders and declaring he was through with the "jungle" forever. It seems that all of the sheets, blankets, etc., had been sent to the laundry.

According to the latest reports from Fulton, Mo., Coach Sexton's name is not Gene but Pot. We wonder how that name was derived.

These western boys still stick to the small town idea. Each cottage at Camp Letts had a distinctive name of its own. Slairdville, Carterville, and the K. A. House were the principle communities. Lee Carlin, rooming with a few K. A.'s declared that Sigma Nu is still maintaining its own. Has anybody seen a red headed boy?

Joe Carter is wondering what became of the picture that graced his table. A prominent Chi O is missing. Here's your chance co-ed.

Laz Sommers has a model T Ford for sale. Anyone interested can have it merely for the trouble of towing it home from somewhere along the Chesapeake Road. Someone has suggested that Farrington sell his black and white sport ensemble and buy himself that new Ford he wants. Perhaps Mr. Farrington should see Mr. Sommers.

Can anyone explain why Jerry Cobbe and Max Brown picked up 15 pounds apiece this summer. This squad of ours is certainly a milk-fed outfit. Ten or twelve glasses a meal seems nothing. But watch 'em go.

Coach Len Walsh told one of a certain chap who came out for a Minnesota team some few years ago. When told that he had stiff competition for a backfield berth this candidate remarked that the man who beat him out would have to be All-American. He was beat out but the fellow who did it did make All-American. The story seemed to please Blackie Hoffman, who declared it was a good idea. We wonder who the All-American is going to be.

Bugs Bagranoff says he likes dirt. As he's always at the bottom of the pile in scrimmage we are inclined to believe him.

Otto Kriemelmeyer is a little nettled, as his punting is only a little better than it was last year. We wonder what G. W. will do with a 55-yard punter and a 200-pound line. Just wait and see!

If you did not know it was the G. W. training camp you would think it a junior order of the House of David.

Within the limits of the great camp a seething metropolis has sprung. Slairdville. Named after its mayor, Mr. Slaird, whose iron rule predominates over all. Mayor Slaird enforces his will through his right hand henchman, Sheriff "Barney" Hale, whose force consists of John Lannon, the cop and "Oby" O'Brien, who makes an admirable justice of peace.

There is no newspaper in this great city so Wilson and Johnson have been appointed stoolpigeons to get all gossip and report to Slaird. Mulvey is the town's ladies' man, "Red" Welsh, the outstanding musician and Demas the half-wit.

The town is incorporated upon these three principles:

1. To build an 18-story barber shop.
2. Any mention of football is punishable by death.
3. Free beer.

The camp night life offers mosquitoes, ping pong, black jack, bridge and occasionally an organ recital by Gene Sexton, who presides at the console of the auditorium's great organ.

"Joe" Carter kept in trim all summer by hauling ice in the West.

"Laz" Sommer maintained his excellent physical condition playing ping pong.

"Otto" Kriemelmeyer improved his wind by walking down office building stairs.

"Jerry" Cobbe returned from Dunk-schultz, N. Y., weighing 185; we don't know what he did.

You can tell "Bert" Bagranoff wasn't near any bright lights this summer because he is in excellent condition, weighing 206.

The most nautical individual of the camp is Admiral Duffalo, whose crew is Capt. Oelschlager, 1st. Mate Cobbe, 2nd. Mate Jones, 3rd. Mate Helwin. No crew has ever been known to sail a second time under the Admiral.

FOOTBALL TAKES IMPORTANT PLACE IN CAMPUS LIFE

Close Of First Football Camp Marked By High Degree Of Optimism

By BILL DISMER

George Washington University is ready to renew her football supremacy.

The close of the first football training camp in the history of the school Saturday at Camp Letts, Md., has imbued grid followers of G. W. with a degree of optimism unprecedented since 1910 when the Buff and Blue was acclaimed to have one of the outstanding elevens of the Nation, and the hope for success during the coming year is entirely justified.

Forty men, comprising the largest squad in years, are ready to show George Washington students and alumni football as it should be played. Two weeks on the shore of the Rhode River at Camp Letts have left them in tip-top condition and every one of the two-score huskies looks ready to start the opening game of the year against Rutgers on October 4.

All-Frosh Back

The return to school of every one of the crack freshmen eleven of 1929 has raised the chances of the 1930 Colonials no small degree and the sophomores look ready to continue in varsity uniforms their success inaugurated as yearlings.

It is too early yet to predict the kind of football the team will use in its games. Certainly the physical attributes of the candidates seem to fit them for whatever kind Head Coach Pixlee and his staff of assistants deem best. Hardly any of the linemen in camp weighed less than 200, and their avoirdupois seemed to take little if anything from that all-important quality of speed.

The backfield is fast rounding into shape and seems well equipped to carry on its attack either through the air or on the ground. It has power, speed, an accurate passer and a capable punter.

Large Training Staff

This material is made more impressive by the coaching of a well-rounded staff headed by Director of Athletics Pixlee. No longer is one man forced to handle the entire G. W. squad. Pixlee has collected Max Farrington, Jean Sexton, and Len Walsh as assistants. Through this trio the team will receive specialized training, Sexton handling the linemen from the tackles in and Walsh taking care of the ends. To Farrington is entrusted the care of the incoming freshmen to whom the school will look for the next three years. Pixlee, besides supervising, will devote his time to the backs.

George Washington is not facing its schedule with fears and shakings, but with the desire to escape the long coldmors of defeats and to get back once more into the "win column" and public eye. The team will play two games away before returning to Washington for its first local game on October 17, and that Griffith Stadium, the scene of all home battles, should be packed on that night, seems to be no mere story-writer's tale.

South Dakota University, long a power of the midwest, for the first time sends its football squad to Washington. At present, nothing on the local horizon even approaches the attractiveness of the G. W.-South Dakota game except the traditional George Washington-Catholic University fray which always packs 'em in.

Should the team defeat Rutgers and Delaware before meeting South Dakota here in a night game, the latter an attraction in itself, the "go-go" slogan would not seem amiss.

Dickinson, which last year defeated G. W., 7-6, will be the next home opponent on the following week, and after that the team will play alternately at home and on foreign fields. On November 1, it will engage in its second intercollegiate game, going to Tulsa, Okla., to meet the Tulsa University team, returning the following week to play another game under the arc lights at Griffith Stadium against the New York Aggies. Albright University next will be visited on November 15, leaving the Catholic University battle as the last home affair on November 21.

Navy

After that—Navy! To say that there will be a complete exodus of G. W. students to Annapolis on November 29, the date of that game, will be little exaggeration. It will be the first time in recent years that G. W. has not ended the season with its traditional game with C. U., but is it to be deplored that one of the country's National elevens has taken the place of our Brookland rival?

THE 1930 COLONIAL VARSITY SQUAD

FRESHMEN FACE TOUGH SCHEDULE FOR COMING YEAR

Will Meet Pittsburgh, Georgetown And C. U. Frosh, And Navy "B" Squad

Another tough football schedule will be faced by the freshmen eleven of 1930. Having seen the present sophomores romp through the list of foes met last year with the loss of only one game, Director of Athletics Pixlee has arranged as formidable a schedule for this year's yearlings and added another foe of no little prestige.

The Pittsburgh University freshmen, who will next year join Pitt's varsity squad, will be brought to this city for a game on October 11, to open the schedule of seven hard games. In addition to the Pitt game, the freshmen of Georgetown, Catholic University and the Navy "B" Squad will be met in the most attractive games. With the exception of the last, the games will be played on local fields.

Georgetown Game

Although G. W. students deplore the fact that their varsity will not face the Georgetown University eleven this year, feeling assured that a warm battle would be on the books, the lack is somewhat compensated by the right to meet the Hilltop yearlings. "Anything to score over Georgetown" is the cry, and the hope that this year's frosh will repeat the 21-0 victory posted on the Blue and Gray last year, is universally expressed. It will be remembered that the game last year started the 1929 frosh on a season in which only one game was dropped. Thousands of students yelled themselves hoarse while watching the Georgetown team trampled.

The Catholic University freshmen comprise another group over whom victory is especially sweet and the game on November 2, the same date as the varsity struggle, gives Buff and Blue students visions of trouncing their "favorite" foe twice on one day. Although not definitely arranged, there is hope of playing the two games as a double-header at Griffith Stadium at night.

Navy Encounter

Lastly, the Navy "B" Squad, the group from which the Naval Academy varsity is chosen, will be met in the last game two days before the varsity journeys to Annapolis for its major game of the season. The licking of the "little middies" by a 13-0 score last year, is seen by many as the basic reason why G. W. was able to get on the Navy schedule for 1930 and this year's group of freshmen will endeavor to repeat their older brothers' tricks.

Practice for the team will start the opening day of school and any gridiron aspirants among the incoming class are requested to make their presence known at the gym office at once.

Return From Girls' Camp

Ruth H. Atwell and Helen B. Lawrence returned recently from their camp for girls in the mountains of Southern Virginia, near Roanoke. Activities at the camp embraced swimming, hiking, canoeing, and journalism, among other things, the last named being carried out through the medium of a camp paper. The counselors' staff included India Bell Corea and Marion Wyvell.

Photographer Wanted

An attractive proposition to some student experienced in photography is open at the University athletic office. Candidate should have full knowledge of the taking, developing, and printing of all kinds of pictures, including those of action. Anyone interested should see Mr. Pixlee at once in the gym office.

W. A. Welcomes New Women To Fall Athletic Activities

The Women's Athletic Association of The George Washington University extends its heartiest welcome to the incoming freshmen and hopes that it may be of help to them all during their undergraduate years. The purpose of this organization is to bring together and guide student interest and participation in athletics. The association, with the assistance of the Department of Physical Education controls the organization of women's athletics in the University. Through its intramural program and through the clubs which are being formed this year it is hoped that every girl will find a chance to play her favorite game.

In the near future a meeting will be held to which all the freshmen are cordially invited, at which the policies and activities of this organization will be more fully explained to those new in the University.

The sports that are being offered this fall will be soccer, hockey, and archery for freshmen, and soccer, hockey, archery, tennis, and riding for sophomores.

Phi Epsilon Pi Is Installed By National Officers At G. W. U. On Last Day of School Term

Phi Epsilon Pi Fraternity, nationally known as Phi Ep, installed its twenty-sixth chapter, to be known as Alpha Mu, at the George Washington University on June 4, the final day of the last school year.

Six men form the charter group which was inducted into the fraternity at that time. They are Leo David, Harry I. Melcer, Jerrold B. Ullman, Irving G. Larkey, Alexander W. Steiner, and Irvin J. Fine.

The installation was conducted by two national officers of Phi Epsilon Pi, Emanuel W. Wickman, Grand Treasurer, and Charles H. Fleishman, Grand Secretary, both of Philadelphia. Phi Eps, active and alumni, numbering twenty, were in attendance, Johns Hopkins University being particularly well represented.

Immediately following the installation, Dean William Allen Wilbur delivered a short speech of welcome to the new chapter on behalf of the University.

Truth needs no support; Sheaffer's is the college favorite*

TODAY there are more Sheaffer's bought than any other make; among America's hundred leading colleges, each registering 1,700 or more students, Sheaffer's sales overtop all others.

With Sheaffer's, the reason for such success is that these instruments are supremely well suited to the business of writing. First, there is a Sheaffer's Lifetime[®] pen point for every hand. Second, each is a Balance[®] instrument, fitting the hand comfortably, taking class notes quickly, making long themes easy. Third, the Balance[®] contour is truly modern, a happy blend of line and curve, the combination of utility with beauty. And fourth, nobody can outlive his Lifetime[®] pen's guarantee of satisfactory service.

*A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in fountain pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registration of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.

CAPTAIN PROCTOR MADE PRESIDENT OF G. W. ALUMNI

New President Is Prominent Attorney, Holding High
D. C. Positions

Captain James McPherson Proctor, prominent Washington attorney and Special Assistant to the Attorney General, was elected President of the General Alumni Association of the University at its annual meeting in June.

Captain Proctor is a graduate of the Law School, having received the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1904. He has practiced law in Washington for 26 years and is widely known in legal circles where he has held many high posts for his active interest in civic affairs, and as a prominent Mason.

He is a member of the Bar of the Supreme Court of the District, the Court of Appeals of the District, and the Supreme Court of the United States. He has served as Chief Assistant United States Attorney for the District. It is understood that Captain Proctor has been selected by President Hoover for the District Supreme Court bench, to succeed Justice William Hitz, who is expected to be appointed to the Court of Appeals.

Has War Record

Besides an enviable career in the legal profession, Mr. Proctor has an outstanding war record. When the United States entered the World War Mr. Proctor immediately volunteered and was sent to the first officers' training camp at Fort Myer, Va., where he was commissioned a lieutenant of infantry. Refusing a desk job in Washington offered him by the War Department, he went overseas and served at the front where he was severely gassed.

At present Mr. Proctor is engaged in important work for the Federal Government, acting as special assistant to the Attorney General in the clearing of titles to waterfront property.

Another prominent man who was elected to office in the Association is Dr. John Howard Dellinger, Chief of the Radio Section of the United States Bureau of Standards, who will serve as a Vice President. Dr. Dellinger is an eminent physicist. He is past president of the Institute of Radio Engineers and has acted as delegate and technical adviser at numerous national and international radio conferences. He was a member of the technical staff of the Washington Arms Conference in 1921. During the summer Dr. Dellinger attended a conference of the International Electrotechnical Committee in Scandinavia.

Other Officers

Other officers of the General Alumni Association who were elected at the annual meeting are: Miss May Paul Bradshaw, Assistant Principal of Business High School; Dr. Louis F. Bradley, Dean of the George Washington University School of Pharmacy; Dr. Daniel LeRay Borden, prominent surgeon; Mr. James Robert Kirkland, assistant District Attorney; Dr. Charles Turk Bassett, a well known member of the dental profession; Dr. Selden M. Ely, supervising principal of the Washington public schools; and Miss Emilie Margaret White, Miss Margaret Maize was named Treasurer, and Mrs. Frances Walker Phillips, Assistant Treasurer.

Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., Chairman of the Nominations Committee, reviewed the progress of the Association in recent years. She spoke appreciatively of the leadership of Dr. Oscar Benwood Hunter, retiring President of the Association. "One of the most eminent pathologists in the country," said Mrs. Evans, "has, out of a very busy life devoted to science and teaching, found time to give countless hours and undivided attention to the work of the Association."

In assuming his new office, Captain Proctor declared that the history and traditions of George Washington, going back to the time of the founding of this city as the national capital, and the influence which it exerts in the cultural life of the community, were appealing calls to duty. He pledged the utmost in time and effort in forwarding the interests of his Alma Mater and its organized alumni.

New Division Is Established Under Elmer Louis Kayser

Division For Special and Extension Students Developed As Part Of Program to Extend George Washington to Complete Urban University

The program to extend The George Washington University to the full stature of the complete urban university, national in scope, was further developed this year through the establishment of a Division of Special and Extension Students. The addition of this academic unit makes George Washington more than ever a university of the people, which provides, as heretofore, the traditional studies and disciplines of the liberal arts and sciences curriculum and of the various professional schools, and in addition, renders available a wide variety of special courses designed to give cultural richness to the intellectual life and greater proficiency to the vocational activity of the individual.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, of the History Department, has been named Director of the Division of Special and Extension Students according to an announcement by Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of the University. Professor Kayser has served for eleven years as Secretary of the University and for five years as Director of its Summer Sessions.

The effort of the Division in behalf of University students will be twofold: 1. To provide special studies to meet their special needs; 2. To assist them in regularizing their work so that if desired they may later become candidates for degrees. During the coming year a survey will be made of the demands and opportunities in the direction of extension work in Washington and the surrounding region, with a view to adding next year any courses for which there may be a need in the community.

Meanwhile, the student nucleus of the new division will be the group of special students already registered in the University, which numbered last year about one thousand. This group is composed of mature students, most of them already in business and professional life. Special students are those over twenty-one years of age whose preparation is sufficient to permit their pursuing with profit the elected studies. Admission as a special student in all cases is upon the specific authorization of the instructor in charge of the course. Special students will be designated not as students of a particular school, but as "University Students," in which status they will remain so long as they pursue studies of a special nature only. Upon meeting the specific requirements they may be transferred to the school or college of their choice.

Tau Alpha Omega Leads Frats With High Average

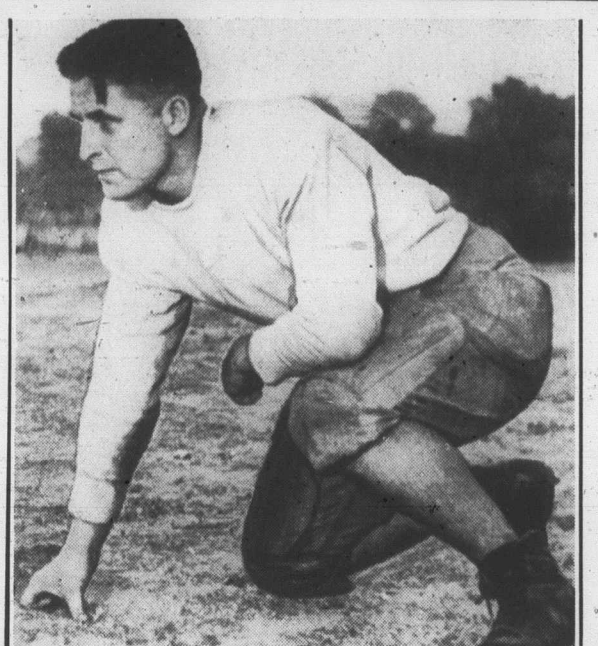

The Tau Alpha Omega Fraternity led the group of fraternities in the scholarship averages for the second semester 1929-30, compiling an average of 1.76, with Theta Upsilon Omega coming second with a mark of 1.38. T. A. O. was the leader in the first semester 1929-1930 with the highest average ever earned by any fraternity here at George Washington.

The averages for all the fraternities are:

Tau Alpha Omega	1.76 Plus 4
Theta Upsilon Omega	1.38 Plus 1
Kappa Alpha	1.35 Plus 1
Index for Student Body	1.30
Phi Sigma Kappa	1.20 Minus 1
Acacia	1.01 Minus 2
Sigma Mu Sigma	.97 Minus 2
Kappa Sigma	.95 Minus 3
Sigma Chi	.90 Minus 3
Sigma Theta Delta	.80 Minus 3
Sigma Nu	.78 Minus 4
Sigma Phi Epsilon	.60 Minus 5

The above information was compiled according to the method adopted by the Conference of Deans and Advisers of men by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars, and by the National Interfraternity Conference.

The grades, according to the method adopted, were given numerical equivalents as follows: A-3, B-2, C-1, D and E-0, F-minus 1.

Appointments Given By Physical Ed. Staff

Aubeck, Harmon, Taylor Are New Appointees To Department;
New Courses Are Offered

Professor Ruth Harriet Atwell, Director of Physical Education for Women, has announced several new members of the department staff. In addition to Helen Bennett Lawrence and Janet Peirson Jones, who will again be here in the capacity of instructors, Ruth M. Aubeck has been appointed an instructor in the department. Miss Aubeck is a graduate of the Central School of Hygiene and Physical Education and received her Bachelor of Science degree from Columbia University. She has been teaching at Randolph Macon College and at the University of Pittsburgh.

Another addition to the staff is Helen Taylor who will coach girls' rifle. Miss Taylor, who graduated from George Washington University in 1929, was a member of the varsity team during all four years and captain of the team during the last two years. Three of the four years the George Washington team of which she was a member gained the national championship.

Dr. Harmon, who is especially well known through his connection with the glee clubs of the university is going to give the majority of the lectures in Freshman Hygiene. Dr. Harmon is a member of the faculty and was recently appointed Assistant University Physician.

Outside Lecturers

The above staff, with the addition of several outside lecturers, will carry the work of the department and will give the courses in the major department. The four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science was offered for the first time last year. This year many additions in the variety of subjects have been added and the course compares very favorably with similar courses in leading universities in every part of the country. The attention of incoming students is especially called to the work offered in this department as George Washington University is the only school in the District of Columbia that offers the regular four-year course leading to a Bachelor of Science degree.

The courses that are being offered throughout this whole year are Methods of Teaching Gymnastics, Sports, and Dancing, Theory and Practice of Play activities, which includes the playground training, Therapeutic Gymnastics and Physical Examinations. The courses that are being offered the first semester only are the History of Physical Education and Scouting and other Adolescent Organizations. The courses being offered only in the second semester are School Health Problems, Physical Tests and Measurements, and Camp Leadership.

Dan Beattie Makes Good As Composer of Songs

Dan Beattie, musical director for the Troubadours and vice-president of "Les Jongleurs," is now a recognized composer, with contracts to publish songs every few months. All this was made possible by an introduction to Will Osborne, crooner of note, who introduced Dan's work to the public via radio and stage. His best-known song is "The Sweetheart of Theta Delta Chi."

New Courses Are Named In Several Departments

Nine Courses Are Offered to Graduates in Department of Education

Dean William Carl Ruediger announces that students who are taking classes in the School of Education which meet Saturdays may register for such classes on September 27. A new course on Character Education, which will meet Saturdays from 9:10 to 11:00 a. m., is offered under Jessie LeSalle, Professorial Lecturer in Education. This course will be followed in the second semester by a course on Effective Study.

The School of Education's classes in Child Development and Behavior Problems, which were given last year at the Washington Child Research Center, will meet this year at the University. A special course on the Junior High School is scheduled for the first semester, to be followed the second semester by School Administration. These courses will be given by Professor Powers.

The course on the Parent-Teacher Movement will again be given by Florence VanAuken Watkins, Lecturer on Parental Education, and Executive Secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Adult Education is again offered under the direction of Lewis Raymond Alderman, Lecturer on Adult Education, of the United States Bureau of Education. This course is designed both for teachers and librarians.

A special course for teachers of Americanization—entitled Cultural Backgrounds—will be given in the Sociology Department, the instructor being Maude Eleanor Alton, director of Americanization in the Washington Public Schools. Other courses of special interest to teachers offered by the Department of Sociology are Educational Sociology, and Behavior Problems in Social Work.

Two courses of special interest to teachers of English are offered by Professor Dewitt C. Croissant, of the English Department. These are: The Appreciation of Literature and The Teaching of English.

In the graduate division of the Department of Education nine courses are offered, covering the fields of Child Development, Commercial Education, Secondary Education, School Administration, Teacher-Training, and Research Problems. A new course in Educational Origins is offered by Professor French.

Students In School of Medicine Will Register September 24

Revised Plans of School Include Three Divisions; Hospital Staff Reorganized and New Equipment Added to Facilitate Studies

Registration for advanced students in the Medical School of George Washington University will take place in the Office of the Dean at 1335 H Street N. W., on the opening day of school, Wednesday, September 24. The members of the freshmen class were registered throughout the summer, as their applications were favorably passed upon. Registration should be prompt in order that the students may be assigned to clinical sections.

Dr. Oscar B. Hunter, Assistant Dean of the Medical School, is acting Dean during the absence of Dean Borden, who is confined to his home on account of illness. Dr. Hunter is a graduate of the George Washington University, and of the Medical School, and has been assistant dean of the latter since 1918.

The Faculty announces that the school has been reorganized during the summer and the work of the school has been divided into three divisions; i. e., the Pre-Clinic Division, the Clinic Division and the Hospital Division. Dr. Hunter has been named as Assistant Dean in charge of the Hospital Division; Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn, U. S. N., retired, and formerly Chief of Staff of the Gallinger Hospital, has been appointed as Assistant Dean in charge of the Clinic Division of the School and Dr. Joseph H. Roe, Professor of Bio-Chemistry, in addition to his present duties has been made Assistant Dean in charge of the Pre-Clinic Division. Several other additions and changes have been made in the Faculty, all of which it is believed will strengthen the courses now offered in the school.

A considerable amount of new equipment has been added to the already well equipped laboratories and all of this will be installed and ready for use at the opening of the session. Of special interest to students in the Department of Bacteriology and Pathology, is an Autotechnicon, a mechanical device for the handling of diseased tissue removed at surgical operations or from autopsy. With this machine tissues which heretofore required about a week to fix, dehydrate, clear and imbed in paraffin can now be prepared for diagnosis in from 12 to 18 hours.

The Staff of the Hospital has been reorganized and is now under the control of an Executive Committee. The staff is divided into the Department of Medicine, including General Medicine, Dermatology, Syphilology and Neuro-Physiology, headed by Dr. William J. Mallory; of Surgery, including General Surgery, Urology, Laryngology, Orthopedics, Ophthalmology and Neuro-Surgery, headed by Dr. Charles Stanley White, Executive Officer, and the Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics, headed by Dr. Huron Willis Lawson, Executive Officer.

The Division of Laboratories is continued as heretofore, there being close affiliation between the diagnostic work of the Hospital and the laboratories of the Medical School.

The Roentgenology Laboratory has been remodeled, considerable additional equipment installed and it is now under the direction of Dr. Claud Moore.

A new Delivery Room has been remodeled from one of the small wards

Girls' Glee Club Calls Meeting of Members

The Girl's Glee Club of George Washington University will hold its first meeting Saturday, Oct. 4, at 12:00 in Corcoran Hall 1. All members of last year's organization and all new students desiring to apply for membership are asked to be present at this first gathering.

Voice trials will be held immediately following the meeting in order that regular rehearsals may begin the following week.

Marvin Calls First Meeting For College Faculty Members

The faculties of the University were called together for their first meeting of the year by President Cloyd Heck Marvin on Friday evening, September 19, at 8:30 o'clock, in Stockton Hall. An informal reception followed the meeting.

During the afternoon of the same day, the University head entertained the administrative officers of the school at a luncheon.

REORGANIZATION OF UNIVERSITY GOES INTO EFFECT

eral, clarifies the distinction between personnel administration, which falls to the Dean, and educational responsibility, which falls to the faculty. It converts a heterogeneous collection of scholars into a community having coherence of interest, and creates a stimulative intellectual atmosphere which promotes creative effort and produces closer cooperation between related groups.

Graduate Council
A further extension of this policy is the organization of a Graduate Council, or guild of scholars, responsible for the direction of graduate students in research. The principles underlying the new program, particularly the intimate "master-fellow" relationship between teacher and student, and the discovery and development of creative ability, are applicable in a special sense to the field of research and will be consistently followed in graduate work leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. The unparalleled resources of the City of Washington in trained personnel for the direction of scholarly research and in source materials, are made available for a carefully selected group of mature students.

With the organization of Columbian College as the senior college, the work for the Master's degree has been separated from that for the Ph. D. and placed under control of the senior college. This policy recognizes that the work for the Master's degree is more closely allied to the course system of instruction than to the research method. While research methods are introduced into some of the courses taken by candidates for the Master's degree and into the thesis, on the whole the student works under the close supervision of his instructor. On the other hand, the candidate for the Ph. D. is judged by what he has acquired on his own initiative. The separation of the work for the Master's degree and the Doctor's degree gives free rein for the development of the latter into mature and creative research.

Study Plan
Within the senior college provision for the discovery and development of creative ability has been provided through adoption of an Independent Study Plan. Under this plan a student of demonstrated capacity with special interest in a course may be permitted to undertake independent study under the personal direction of the instructor and freed from formal class requirements.

The Junior College cares for the work of the freshman and sophomore years, prepares for the Senior College and the professional schools, and provides also general education for those who do not look forward to four years of college.

The Junior College affords a better transition between the secondary school and the University. It makes for a homogeneous grouping of students. It provides for the more effective guidance of the younger students through an effective advisory system with a board of advisers always available. It enables those who cannot or should not go further to terminate their college work at a logical point without personal discredit.

New In East
The Junior College, which has been in successful operation in the West has not gained such rapid acceptance in the East. A number of secondary schools have added junior colleges, but the universities have been slow to do so. The University Junior College has distinct advantages over the independent junior college as it provides a breadth of outlook and a maturity of instruction which cannot be attained in the junior college whose contacts are primarily with secondary schools.

In announcing the adoption of the new organization, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, President of The George Washington University pointed out that "the plan will succeed only in so far as the instructional staff remembers that the teacher's province is so to order the University environment that the student will be inspired to train himself, to be enthusiastic in the use of his mind, and to be fearless in the pursuit of knowledge." The freedom and companionship gained under the new plan provide opportunity for the stimulation of scholarly personality through the impact of character," President Marvin said.

THE "CAMPUS" BECOMES A FACT

LAW STUDENTS WILL REGISTER STARTING FRIDAY

General Assembly of Faculty and Students Sept. 24; Chief Justice Wheat to Speak

The registration period for the Law School will be from September 19 to September 23, both inclusive, in Room 1, Stockton Hall. Hours will be from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 6 p. m. each day.

On Wednesday, September 24, at 5:10 p. m. a general meeting of the faculty and students of the Law School will be held in Room 1, Stockton Hall. President Marvin will be present and will address the students. Chief Justice Wheat, President of the Law School Alumni Association, and Justice Cox of the District of Columbia Supreme Court have been invited to speak and will attend if possible. All students registering in the Law School for the first time are especially invited and welcomed at this meeting.

During the academic year 1930-31 Dean William C. Van Vleck, who has so successfully conducted the administration of the Law School since September, 1924, will be absent on sabbatical leave. Dean Van Vleck is engaged in research and study at Harvard University. He is particularly engaged in the preparation of a new edition of the standard text, Minor on the Conflict of Laws. During the absence of Dean Van Vleck, Professor Charles S. Collier has been named by the President to serve as Acting Dean and as Executive Officer of the Department of Law. Professor Collier has been a member of the faculty of the Law School since September, 1917, and has served as Acting Dean during the summer sessions of 1927 and 1930.

The faculty, and students of the Law School greatly regret the resignation of Professor Earl C. Arnold, who has accepted the position of Dean of the School of Law at Vanderbilt University. Professor Arnold was one of the most mature and scholarly members of the law faculty, whose advice was sought on every occasion and whose personality endeared him both to his colleagues and to members of the student body. His place will be difficult to fill.

The Law School welcomes several new instructors for the year 1930-31. Professor J. Forrester Davison adds another name to the long list of men with Harvard degrees on our faculty of law. Professor Davison holds the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Dalhousie, Halifax, Nova Scotia, and the degrees of LL. B. and L. L. M. and S. J. D. from Harvard University. He served as Lecturer in Law at the University of Toronto in 1924-25, and as Assistant Professor in 1925-29. He has also had the honor of holding research scholarships at Harvard University, a highly valued distinction. He will teach Corporations, Administrative Law, and one section in Contracts.

Another addition to the faculty for the coming year is Dr. James O. Murdoch of the State Department, who will give the courses in International Law. Dr. Murdoch is a graduate of the Harvard Law School, but the G. W. Law School has a claim upon him as he took the first year of his law work at this University. Mr. John M. McFall, who was for several years a member of the full-time faculty, and who is now one of the legal staff of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore, returns to our faculty this year to give the course in Insurance. Many of the alumni will recall Mr. McFall and it will be a pleasure to his former associates on the faculty to welcome him once more in the George Washington University circles.

The administrative staff in the Law School office remains the same as in former years.

The Alumni Association, under the guidance of the newly elected President, Chief Justice Wheat, is looking forward to a period of renewed activity and all interested in law school affairs unite in a spirit of solidarity and mutual cooperation, with the hope that under the leadership of President Marvin, all branches of the University may achieve a distinguished success during the coming year.

Glee Club Starts Activities By Calling Meeting Sept. 30

Voice Trials Will Be Given At Later Meeting of Club For New Men

The Glee Club of George Washington University will begin its activities for the season 1930-1931 with a meeting of the members of last year's group on Tuesday evening, September 30, at 7:30 p. m., in Corcoran Hall 1. The purpose of this initial meeting will be to outline plans for the season and to determine the number of vacancies to be filled in each section. New men who wish to apply for membership are asked to report for preliminary voice tests which will be given in Corcoran Hall 1, Thursday evening, October 2, at 7:30.

In view of the inter-collegiate status of the Glee Club, certain requirements for membership must be met. These will be explained in detail at the meeting of October 2. A cordial invitation is issued to all students interested in this type of work to attend this preliminary meeting regardless of previous training or experience. The Glee Club will again be under the leadership of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harmon.

Interfraternity Council Begins New Rushing Rules

With the innovation of new and more efficient rushing rules and a complete social calendar, the Interfraternity Council begins the year. The new rules restricting rushing are the result of a thorough study of similar rules and conditions in schools of the same type as George Washington University.

Arthur Darton, Social Chairman, announces the first Interfraternity Council Dollar Dance will be held in Corcoran Hall, Room 1, on Tuesday, September 30. This will be the first of the annual series of dances sponsored by the Interfraternity Council for the student body.

Plans for the Second Annual Thanksgiving Jamboree are already in progress, and will be of special interest to fraternity men and their weekend dates.

The Council holds its first regular meeting of the school year on Sunday, September 21, at the Phi Sigma Kappa House, at which time a general discussion will be held, temporary committees appointed by President Hawkins, and a complete schedule approved for the year. Plans for interfraternity golf will also be presented by Chairman of Athletics Steele McGrew.

The following delegates have been elected to office for the school year, 1930-31: President, Normont D. Hawkins; Vice-President, Richard P. Hawes; Secretary, Robert M. Gray, and Treasurer, Charles H. Fleck.

PRIZES FOR PAST YEAR AWARDED AT CLASS NIGHT

Dorothy Ruth, Herbert Angel Receive Delt and Phi Prizes

Awards for scholastic excellence and for leadership in various university activities were conferred upon members of the Class of 1930 of The George Washington University at Class Night exercises held the evening of June 8.

The Delta Tau Delta medal and the Pi Beta Phi prize awarded respectively to the man and the woman student who have done the most for the University throughout their four years, went to Herbert E. Angel and to Dorothy Mae Ruth. Angel was a leader in journalistic activities at the University. He served for two years as chairman of the Board of Editors of The Hatchet, was President of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, and of the District of Columbia Press Conference, which he was instrumental in organizing. He was a member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national collegiate journalism fraternity and served as a member of the Student Life Committee of the University.

Ruth Outstanding

Dorothy Ruth also did outstanding work in journalism, being Chairman of the Board of Editors of the Cherry Tree last year. She served as President of the Y. W. C. A., as a member of the Student Life Committee, the Women's Advisory Council and the Graduate Endowment Fund Committee. Recently she has been elected to membership on the Board of Administrators of the Graduate Endowment Fund. She is an active member of The Columbian Women and a member of their scholarship committee.

The John Bell Larner Medal which goes to the graduate of the Law School who attains the highest average grade in the entire law course, was won by George E. Monk. The Ordreux Prize for the highest scholastic standing in the graduating class of the School of Medicine, went to Charles B. Widgerson. The Herrick Prize awarded to the Law graduate who has attained the highest average in the work of the third year went to Elliott DeJarnette Marshall, President of the class.

Order of the Coat
Eleven members of the Law class were elected to the Order of the Coat, honorary legal society. Those so honored were: Thomas Bailey, Jr., John W. Cox, Laurence Dodds, Mark Esch, Solomon Grossberg, Elsie Jansen, Laurence Knapp, Elliott Marshall, George Monk, Homer McCormick and Lionel Summers.

The Alexander Wilbourn Weddell prize of $250 for the best essay upon the subject of the promotion of peace among the nations of the world was won by Harryman Dorsey.

New Council Is Named For Girls' Activities

The members of the Council for Women's Activities have just been announced. Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, Director of Personnel Guidance, is chairman of the group.

The purpose of this council is to work toward the direction and unification of the interests of the women students of the University.

The members of the council include the following: The Provost of the University, the Directors of Admissions, of the Division of Fine Arts, and of the Physical Education Department, the Associate University Physician for Women, the Executive Officers of the Departments of Psychology, of Public Speaking, and of Home Economics.

This is the first time that such a representative group has been organized to work with the Director of Personnel Guidance for the combined interests of the women students of the University.

Fifteen New Appointments Made to Faculty for 1930

Professors Hill, Van Vleck, Lapham, and Brown Will Take Sabbatical Leave This Year; Professor Kayser Returns to University

Fifteen appointments to the faculty have been made, including five of professorial rank, five instructors and five lecturers. Five members of the faculty will be absent during the year on sabbatical leave, availing themselves of the full year of leave granted by the Board of Trustees to all professors who have served the University for fourteen years or longer. These faculty members will devote themselves to study and research in their special fields.

Charles Edward Hill, Ph.D., Professor of Political Science and Dean of Columbian College, will spend the year in work upon "American Government," which he is producing in collaboration with Professor Warren Reed West, of the University. Dean Hill will elaborate a set of problems in international law which may be published in book form. In the absence of Dean Hill, Dr. John Donaldson, Professor of Political Economy will serve as Acting Dean of Columbian College.

William Cabell VanVleck, A. B., LL.B., S. J. D., Professor of Law and Dean of the Law School, will go to Harvard University for a year of uninterrupted study and writing upon problems of legal education in this country. Professor Charles Sager Collier has been named Acting Dean of the Law School.

John Raymond Lapham, M. S., Professor of Civil Engineering and Dean of the School of Engineering, will go to Johns Hopkins University, where he will spend his time in study and research in the field of sanitary engineering and bacteriology. Professor Arthur F. Johnson will serve as Acting Dean of the School of Engineering.

Thomas Benjamin Brown, Ph.D., Professor of Physics, will spend his sabbatical year at Harvard University, where he will engage in experimental research in cathodo-fluorescence, and will study modern atomic physics and spectroscopy.

Robert Russ Kern, A. B., Professor of Sociology, will study the sources of stimulation of the cells of the interpretive or mind brain, studying either at the University of Chicago or at Columbia University.

Professor Elmer Louis Kayser, who has been on leave during the past year, will return to the University to resume his teaching and to become Director of the Division of Special and Extension Students.

New Faculty Members

The new members of the faculty are:

Edgar A. J. Johnson, Ph.D., who has been added to the staff of the Department of Economics as Associate Professor of Economics. Professor Johnson will take charge of the introductory courses in Economics. He also will teach a new course dealing with Labor Organization and Problems, and a seminar in the History of Economic Thought. Dr. Johnson holds the degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy from Harvard University. His undergraduate work was done at the University of Illinois. He has taught at the University of Oklahoma and at Harvard University and has served as a fellow of the Social Science Research Foundation. During the past year he has been in England engaged in special research. His special field is the History of American Economic Thought. His work, "American Economic Thought in the Seventeenth Century," will be published during the winter, and he has in preparation a companion volume "American Economic Thought in the Eighteenth Century."

Albert Lett, M. S. in M. E., has been appointed Instructor in Mechanical Engineering. Mr. Lett is a graduate of Michigan State College and Iowa State College, and has taught at the latter institution. He has had considerable engineering experience both in government service and private enterprise.

Wilgus Appointed

Alva Curtis Wilgus, Ph.D., formerly of the University of South Carolina and for two years a visiting professor in the George Washington University Summer Sessions, has been named Associate Professor of Hispanic-American History. Dr. Wilgus is the author of more than 30 articles and monographs in this field of history.

Kathryn Mildred Towne, A. M., has been appointed to the staff of the Department of Home Economics as an Instructor. Miss Towne holds the degree of Master of Arts from Teachers College, Columbia University. She has taught at the Peru State Teachers College, Nebraska, and the State Teachers College, Buffalo, N. Y. Her courses will include Clothing Selection, Clothing Construction, Textiles, Household Problems, House Furnishing and Advanced Dress Design and Construction.

Frank Mark Weida, Ph. D., has been appointed Associate Professor in the Department of Mathematics. Professor Weida holds the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Iowa. He has taught at the University of Chicago, the University of Iowa, Montana State College and Lehigh University. He is the author of numerous articles for scientific periodicals and several texts. A specialist in the field of Statistics, Professor Weida will offer courses in Mathematics of Investment, and introductory and advanced courses in Statistics.

Ruth Mary Aubeck, B. S., a graduate of Columbia University, has been added to the teaching staff of the department as Instructor in Physical Education for Women. The curriculum of the Department of Physical Education for Women has been greatly expanded and includes all subjects requisite to the four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Physical Education.

In the Department of Political Science William C. Johnstone, Ph. D., has been appointed as Instructor. Dr. Johnstone, who holds the degree of Ph. D. from Stanford University, will teach the courses in International Relations and International Law. The Political Science Department has added a new course, Political Institutions of Hispanic-America, which will be taught by Professor Wilgus.

In the Department of Psychology, new courses in Employment Psychology and the Psychology of Advertising and Selling will be offered under William Moore Loman, A. M., who has been appointed Lecturer in Psychology.

Curriculum Enlarged

The Public Speaking Department has enlarged its curriculum to include the interpretation of Drama, and Joseph Milnor Dorey, A. M., has been appointed Lecturer in Play Production, offering new courses in Dramatization and in Play Production. A graduate of Harvard University, Mr. Dorey is Secretary of the Progressive Education Association of Washington. He organized the Trenton, N. J., Drama Guild and has directed plays at a number of institutions where he has taught. He has been on the faculties of Dartmouth College and Pennsylvania State College. A work shop is to be made available for the Public Speaking Department where students may receive laboratory training in the technical details of play production. A little theater is planned.

A second appointment to the staff of the Department of Public Speaking is that of Henry Goddard Roberts, A. M., Assistant Professor of Public Speaking. Professor Roberts is a graduate of the University of Illinois and of Cornell University, and has taught at the former institution. He will instruct the elementary classes in Public Speaking and will give an advanced course in Persuasion and Forms of Public Address.

Professor Willard Hayes Yeager, Dewey Professor of Public Speaking, will give a new course in Advanced Debate Practice, designed for skilled debaters.

In the Department of Sociology, J. Blaine Gwin has been appointed Lec-

CENTRAL CO-ED WINS COLUMBIAN WOMEN AWARD

Elizabeth Middlemas Is Given Scholarship on Basis of High School Record

Elizabeth Middlemas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Lum, of 1425 Madison Street, who was graduated from Central High School in June, was awarded a scholarship by the Columbian Women of The George Washington University and enters the University this fall.

Miss Middlemas was chosen by Columbian Women because of her outstanding record of achievement in high school. Her high scholarship has won for her membership in the National High School Honor Society, and she has served as secretary of the Central Chapter. Last year she was awarded the prize given each year by the Radcliffe College Club of Washington to the most outstanding high school junior. She has also won the Gorgas Essay Medallion.

In addition to maintaining a high scholarship record, Miss Middlemas was a leader in student activities. She was editor-in-chief of the 1929 "Brecky," the Central yearbook, was active in dramatics and athletics, and served as secretary of the Bon Secour Club.

Medical Scholarship

For the first time this year, Columbian Women awarded a scholarship to a woman medical student. This scholarship has been conferred upon Grace V. Young, 2429 Tunlaw Road. Miss Young was graduated from the School of Education of The George Washington University in 1927. She is also a graduate of the Wilson Normal School of this city. The Medical School Scholarship was endowed by Miss Elizabeth Wilson, a former president of Columbian Women, in memory of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Wilson.

Columbian Women also awarded a scholarship to Ruth Markwood, 1430 Holly Street, who is now a senior in the University, and continued upon scholarships: Evelyn Schutz, 1323 F Street N. E., Jean Kelly, 422 Hamilton Avenue, Clarendon; Martha Osborne, 1703 New York Avenue, and Margaret Cooper, 2225 Otis Place N. E.

The Scholarship Committee of the Columbian Women which made the awards consisted of Mrs. William Carl Ruediger, chairman; Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr., Mrs. D. Kerfoot Shute, Miss Elizabeth Peet, Miss Ella Given, Miss Ruth Bennett and Miss Dorothy Ruth.

Plans Are Completed For Little Sister Movement: Sponsored By Y. W. C. A.

Plans for the Little Sister Movement sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. have been completed and go into effect Saturday, September 20 with the opening of registration, and will continue for three weeks. Eloise Lindsay is chairman of the committee in charge.

Every freshman girl is requested to leave her name and address at the Y. W. C. A. table that she may be assigned to an upper classman, or big sister, who will introduce her to University life during this period.

Any upper classmen wishing to act as big sisters may leave their names at the "Y" table.

Mary Virginia Smith, president of the Y. W. C. A., announces the following cabinet: Financial Chairman, Winnie Beall; Membership Chairman, Mildred Burnham; Program Chairman, Inge von Lewinski; Social Service Chairman, Mary Weaver. The chairmen of the committees for publicity, foreign students, and the social chairman have not yet been selected. In addition to the above, the officers elected last spring, complete the cabinet: Vice President, Eloise Lindsay; Secretary, Dorothy Albert; Treasurer, Helen Swich, who was appointed to fill the resignation of Roberta Wright.

Employment Bureau

The George Washington Employment Bureau placed 50 per cent of its applicants last year. Persons desiring positions may apply to the secretary of Mrs. Winnie G. Barrows, Secretary of Women's Personnel Guidance.

turer in Sociology. Mr. Gwin is a graduate of Indiana University and has studied at the New York School of Social Work. He is the author of a long list of articles concerning immigration, labor and other special problems. He has filled important posts for many social service organizations and at present is Staff Assistant to the Vice Chairman and Director of Personnel of the American Red Cross. He is also Director of the Civilian Home Service of the Red Cross. Mr. Gwin's courses will include Principles of Social Case Work, and Problems in Social Case Work.

In the Law School, new staff members include James Forrester Davidson, A. B., LL. M., S. J. D., Assistant Professor of Law; Ralph Hoskins Hudson, LL. B., graduate U. S. Naval Academy, Lecturer in Law, and John Monteith McFall, A. M., LL. B., Lecturer in Law.

University Fee Secures Privileges For Students

Subscription to Hatchet, Entrance to Athletic Contests, and Use of G. W. Tennis Courts Included

The payment of the University Fee which all George Washington students are required to pay on registration secures them privileges of participation and admission in most of the important extra-curricular activities of the school.

The following privileges are included: use of gymnasium, including participation in intra-university athletic sports, and the use of the University tennis courts; a subscription to The University Hatchet, the official student newspaper; admission to home athletic contests; admission to University debates; admission at special rates to other university events.

No person who is not regularly enrolled as a student and who has not met the eligibility requirements of the school or division in which he is registered may participate in student activities or represent the University on its athletic teams or in any other activity.

In order to be eligible for any activity a student must be registered for at least 60 per cent of the number of hours constituting a full course in his department. No man student who has not been registered and in attendance at the University for at least one academic year shall represent the University on a varsity athletic team in an inter-collegiate game.

The control and direction of all student activities are vested in the Committees on Extra Curricular Activities, which in turn are subject to the supervision and control of the President's Council.

Les Jongleurs Will Hold First Business Meeting

"Les Jongleurs," the G. W. Vaudeville Club, will hold its first business meeting on Thursday, September 25, at 8 p. m. in Corcoran Hall. Work will begin immediately on a vaudeville to be presented shortly after Thanksgiving.

All musicians, singers, dancers, serious dramatists, or comedians, and stage technicians, or anyone, freshman, sophomore, junior or senior with a desire to take part in this vaudeville should attend the first meeting. Most of the skits for the vaudeville have been planned but the managing board of "Les Jongleurs" is anxious for any suggestions.

Students Publish First Summer School Hatchet Edited By Dorothy Ruth

This summer for the first time the University Hatchet was published during the Summer Session. Dorothy Ruth was editor and Reese Sewell acted as business manager, directing a staff of about thirty students.

The editors of the several departments were: Bradford Swope, news editor; Russell Coombs, sports editor; Jo Eileen Rudnick, features editor; Louise Wright, society editor. On the business staff were: Leslie Gates, advertising manager; William Sterrett, circulation manager; and Everett Dahl, Marian De Fontes and Marlon Fowler, business assistants.

Only one issue of The Hatchet was published this summer, but there is a possibility that it will appear more often in the Summer Session of 1931.

Vest-Parker Duette Set—midget Pen and Pencil together weighing less than 3/4 ounce. Each convertible for Desk Set use. Pen alone, $5; Pencil, $2.50.

Complete Set

For cards or travelers this inlaid enamel Travel Set with Moire Pen (convertible for pen or Desk Set)—pocket cap with ring included free complete, $8.

We pay a bonus for every Duofold point to give you a Pen that writes with Pressureless Touch. To produce this, we had to develop squads of post-graduate point-smiths. We allow them to make but a limited number per day. Thus they have time to make each point a masterpiece.

It must pass 11 merciless tests. Then we pay its maker an extra reward. If it fails any test, we reject it, and the point-smith pays a forfeit. Yet 7 out of 8 they make are Bonus Points. And these, and these only, go into Duofold Pens.

Like 2 Pens for the Price of One

Try this famous Pen at any pen counter. See how it changes from a pocket Pen to a Pen for your study Desk Set by simply interchanging the pocket cap and the tapered tip. This saves the price of a second pen. Parker Duofold Pens are Guaranteed for Life. Their Permalite barrels are non-breakable, yet they have all the beauty of costly jewels.

Duofold Pens hold 17.4% more ink than average, size for size. New streamlined balanced shapes now ready at all dealers. See them—and see the streamlined Pencils to match. Don't buy any pen without first trying the Parker Duofold Bonus-Point.
